

OLTENDORF TO BUILD NEW SAINT CHARLES BRIDGE

Oltendorf Construction Co., Palatine is Awarded The $74,967.18 Job

The Oltendorf Construction company of Palatine has been awarded the contract for widening the Main street bridge at St. Charles by the city council of that city. The contract price is $74,967.18 and the total cost for the extras will bring the cost of the bridge to $80,000.

The awarding of the contract for the bridge brings to an end discussion of the new structure. A wider bridge was first proposed more than a year ago through St. Charles. The necessity for a wider bridge to accommodate the increased motor traffic which Route 64 will bring was pointed out and work was undertaken to get the project under way.

The state division of highways approved the proposal when it was broached by officials of St. Charles and last May the War department also gave its approval to the plan. After some inactivity, the bridge question was revived again when Governor Len Small declared that he would have the contracts awarded for the immediate construction of Route 64 as soon as definite action was taken on the bridge question.

A special election was called for August 31, and after an intensive campaign by the Chamber of Commerce, the residents of St. Charles voted their approval by a 5 to 1 count.

Legal difficulties hindered the project for some time, but these were finally straightened out and last month the city council advertised for bids. Five proposals were received but after several meetings were held, without being able to get a satisfactory bid the city council rejected all bids and re-advertised. Under the contract which the Oltendorf Construction company is to sign with the city, the widening of the bridge must be completed by the fourth of July.

When finished the roadway of the bridge will be 56 feet wide, and on each side there will be sidewalks ten feet and four inches wide. Traffic on Main street will not be halted by the work as the contract states that street cars must not be stopped and that only one half of the roadway can be blocked off at one time.

Start in Two Weeks
Mr. Oltendorf president of the company, expects to start work on the structure within the next two or three weeks.

Mr. Oltendorf has just completed the bridge over the Des Plaines river at Devon avenue and several years ago constructed three bridges over Fox river, being the ones at Dundee, So. Elgin and at Sheridan, Ill. He is now working upon the Bisner bridge, over Salt Creek. He was awarded a number of contract contracts last week by the Cook County Commissioners.

Dr. Campbell Coaches First Aid Scout Team

Dr. William Campbell of the Palatine hospital was kind enough Wednesday morning to give to the first aid team of the Palatine Boy Scouts two hours final instruction in the first aid problems that were before them in the district contest held at Barrington that evening.

Dr. Campbell showed X-Ray pictures of all forms of breaks, the various kinds of splints that are used on various breaks for which some particular splint is used, and showed the various kinds of bandages and gave them other first aid instruction for use in emergencies.

The boys had been previously instructed by Scoutmaster Kincaid who is also a Red Cross Life Saving Examiner, under the Schaeffer method of resuscitation, and other first aid methods.

Linnemann-Hapke

Miss Emilie Linnemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Linnemann and Mr. Ed. Hapke, of Fairfield were united in marriage last Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the Palatine Lutheran church by Rev. Poellert. The bride wore a white satin with veil. She carried roses. She was attended by Miss Margaret Linnemann in peach color, Miss Viola Hapke in white, and Miss Luella Hapke in blue. All of the bridesmaids carried pink roses.

The ushers were Clarence Ludwig of Wheeling, Albert Linnemann and Carl Hapke. Teacher Meyer presided at the organ.

The reception attended by about fifty relatives was held at the home of the bride's parents, where a happy afternoon and evening was spent, some remaining until "getting up" time the next morning.

On account of the storm some of the guests had difficulty in arriving. Autos in some instances were left at Mt. Prospect and the journey continued by train.

The bride has lived in Palatine all of her life and is known to all of us, while the groom, whose home was originally at Fairfield, is not a stranger. He is employed at the Benjamin plant at Des Plaines. Mr. and Mrs. Hapke will reside in the upper Linnemann flat.

Palatine Plays Antioch in Last Home Game Tues

Palatine will play the last of its home games next Tuesday at the Arlington Heights gymnasium when Antioch will be the visitors. The last game between these schools two weeks ago had the most spectacular ending of any game in the conference. The score stood 12 to 13 in favor of Palatine with 15 seconds more of play. The gun barked just after the ball had left the hands of Spicer, the star Antioch center. It was a difficult shot from near the center of the floor, but the ball went into the basket and Antioch won the game.

It was this same game that Palatine adopted the Antioch "stall" and held the ball six minutes during the first half without moving. This is the last game on the Palatine home schedule and marks the last appearance of the three seniors of the team, Grandy, Smith and Reuse.

These three men have been in basketball four years, and have probably done as much or more for their school in an athletic way as any players who have ever worn the Palatine colors. While these home games must necessarily be held at Arlington Heights gymnasium, that place is not far from Palatine and friends of the school should make a special effort to be out for this, the last game. Show these three seniors that we appreciate their efforts. They have carried the Palatine colors to glory and have been as steady and faithful as any. It is Palatine's turn to be loyal to them. Palatine will play Barrington on the latter's floor Saturday night.

Palatine Methodist Sunday School Enjoys Washington Banquet

The annual Washington banquet of the Methodist Sunday school took place Wednesday evening. The adult Bible class had the privilege of serving the dinner, which was highly complimented. Friends of the Sunday school not only were treated with good food, but enjoyed a short program.

This banquet is a time honored occasion in the M. E. Sunday school and it is doubtful if it was ever better planned. The adult Sunday school class offered to be responsible for the meal and it was a responsibility that they met and conquered—the satisfied appetites of those present attest to that fact.

Rev. Stafford acted as toastmaster. The program was short, but greatly enjoyed. It was the first time that many had the opportunity to hear Mrs. Stafford give any of her readings. Full trained in that line of work, she put into it a vivacity that is a charming of itself and the Enterprise knows that she will be called upon frequently.

Mrs. Myra Fosket and Mildred Sanborn gave two of their duets, which are always much enjoyed by Palatine audiences. The Sunday school orchestra gave several numbers. This small band of musicians are progressing very well under the directorship of George Minneberger and to use the words of Rev. Stafford, if you want to hear them, come to Sunday school any Sunday morning.

Supt. R. M. Bennett gave a short talk upon the Sunday school of the past and Rev. Stafford upon the Sunday school of the future.

Altogether, it was a happy occasion and the guests lingered for some time after the program.

June Time Well Presented By Embryo Players

When the writer uses the word "embryo" in the above heading he is not giving even a hint that the performance of that delightful comedy, "June Time" had any of the earmarks of amateurishness. He just wanted to get away from that word amateur. The acting was a surprise even if we know that some of the cast have had considerable experience along that line in the past. We suppose that a lot of credit should be given to Mrs. Stafford for her direction, but we are going to give about 49 per cent of it to the members themselves.

The storm on Friday night, kept many from attending the show that evening and those who stayed home missed something beside the storm. They lost out on a scenic as good as any given by young people as has ever been presented in Palatine—and that is saying a lot.

Some of the parts were rather difficult to present but in the hands of these young people, it was finely done. We hope the young people will be encouraged to give a similar production before summer really arrives.

man Pate, Geo. Proctor and Ed. Erickson. These boys are members of troop No. 7, of which Mr. J. R. Jarrell is the scoutmaster. Dr. Best had given the boys some instruction, but owing to the illness of their scoutmaster they have had little time for practice and consider that they made an excellent showing in the contest.

The members of the Palatine team were Hollis Toynton, captain; Herbert Schroeder, James Harz, Arthur Wildhagen, Harold Meyer and Jack Thompson.

The standings of the teams was as follows:
No. 12—Des Plaines 98
No. 1—Park Ridge 96 3/5
No. 7—Arlington Heights 95 2/5
No. 9—Palatine 94 4/5
No. 3—Park Ridge 93 3/5
No. 10—Barrington 92 2/5
No. 6—Des Plaines 92
No. 11—Park Ridge 94

A possible ten problems had previously been presented to the contestants and upon this evening the following five were actually chosen.

Patient found unconscious from inhalation of smoke, right fore arm broken. Treat and carry 50 feet.

Man has fallen on electric wire, face down; clothing is burning. Rescue and treat burns of front chest and both arms.

Punctured wound in palm of right hand; profuse bright red bleeding. Left jaw broken, propped back. Treat and carry on improvised stretcher.

Treat burns on back of neck, injury to left eye and wound on left forearm. Treat shock, carry on blanket stretcher 15 feet.

In case you have enjoyed the concert, the director as well as the singers would appreciate hearing from you by telephone or mail, care of station WJJD.

Curfew Rings March 1 For Auto Owners

If you have not secured your 1928 state license plate or your village license by March 1, have your fine ready. March 1 is the date that has been set as the zero hour in Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Palatine and a number of other towns when arrests will begin for those who have been lazy about their 1928 license plates.

Arrests will positively start in the village of Palatine after the time limit, state the local police. They state that two months time has been given for the automobile owners, which ought to be sufficient. They do not desire to be "hard" on them, but if a time limit is not set, there will be people going around with 1927 license plates two months from now.

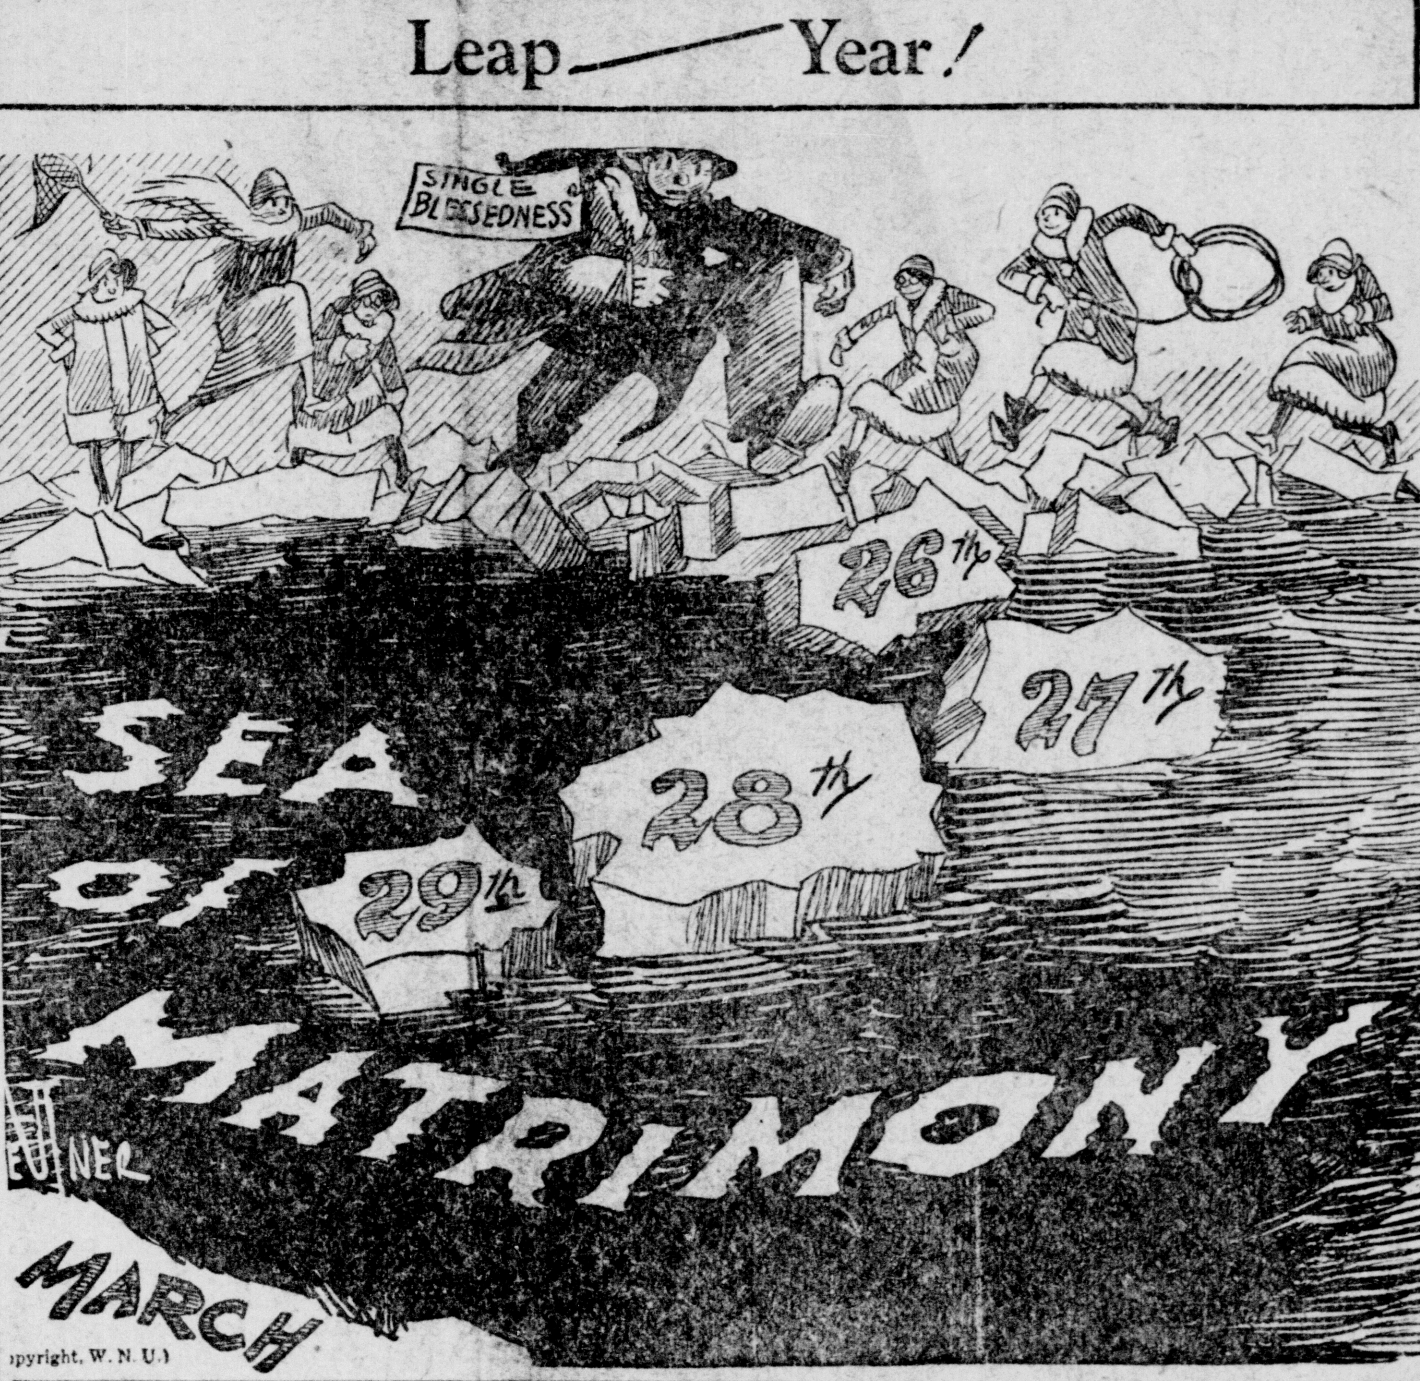

The same situation applies in other towns.

Auxiliary to Serve 1 O'Clock Luncheon Preceding Party

A one o'clock luncheon followed by a dance and cards will be given Wednesday, Feb. 29, at the I. O. O. F. Hall by the American Legion Auxiliary. The following menu will be served:

Spaghetti Chop Suey
Hot Buttered Rolls
Lettuce Salad
Apple Pie, Coffee

Tickets can be secured by phoning either Mrs. Herman Deverman or Mrs. Martin Plate. Price of tickets, 50c. Prizes.

WOMAN MAY TAKE PLACE OF CASTLE IN LEGISLATURE

Howard P. Castle of Barrington who has represented the seventh district in the state legislature several terms, is not a candidate for re-election according to the Chicago press. The candidate in his place will be Mr. Harold L. Ickes, of Winnetka, for years a leader in club circles of Chicago.

The seventh district comprises a large part of Cook county outside of Chicago and is strongly republican, and a nomination means election. Any candidate that has the

Celebrate Birthday of Mr. William Abelmann

Palatine and Chicago relatives of Mr. Wm. H. Abelmann surprised him upon his birthday Wednesday. Those present from Palatine were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Battermann, their son, Edward and their daughter, Mrs. Dela Krueger. Relatives from Chicago were Dr. Abelmann, Miss Louise Abelmann, Wm. Hieber and family, Mrs. Black and daughter and Gustave Hake and family, all of whom are well known in Palatine. The Elgin real estate man was in his office that morning and it was only with difficulty that his wife was able to get him to come home for dinner. He was expected to close a business deal, but his wife's birthday was more important, and William was glad to call this one off when he learned that his whole family were here to celebrate two birthdays—Geo. Washington's and William Abelmann's.

Students Attend Patriotic Program At Medinah Temple

A number of the members of the Sophomore class of the Palatine high school attended the Washington Day program given at Medinah temple in Chicago Wednesday morning under the auspices of the Union League club of that city.

Prizes for Washington orations were for the flag and for poster designs announcing the event were awarded to high school students, while patriotic addresses and music followed.

The feature of the program was a pageant in which many high school students took part, depicting first the colonial period, second Civil war, third, great war, and fourth, parade of nations, America Triumphant.

Music was furnished by the orchestra of the Roosevelt high school and the band of New Trier high school. Cadets of the R. O. T. C. acted as ushers.

Those present from Palatine high school were Lillian Reuse, Naomi McClaine, Luella Springguth, Emma Grever, Margie Paddock and John Stafford.

Postmasters Plan Direct Association

Postmasters from the seventh congressional district met in Park Ridge recently at the invitation of Otto J. Hinrich, for the purpose of organizing a district postmaster's association. M. A. Michaelson, congressman from this district, was guest of the postmasters at this meeting.

The purpose of the association, according to a brief talk made by the congressman, who is active in postal work throughout this district, is to promote efficiency, economy and a betterment of the postal service in the entire territory.

Editors Attend State Press Association

The editors of the state of Illinois are in session Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the semi-annual meeting of the Illinois Press Association which is being held at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago. Editor H. C. Paddock has been a member of that organization many years and never misses a meeting. These semi-annual gatherings are very beneficial to the newspaper men as matters of importance to them are freely discussed and a lot of good is attained by the free expressions of opinion. The program has a total of 17 speakers who will talk upon the various branches of the following subjects:

"The Problems of the Editor."
"Bread and Butter Problems."
"Organization Problems."

BIG BUSINESS BLOCK FOR NORTH SIDE

The business district north side of the track will take a jump a block north of its present boundary, if the plans of Mr. Kretschmer, owner of the former J. A. Burlingame property materialize. It became known this week that he has tentative plans for the erection of a business block of three stories with flats upon the second floor, to be built upon his property.

Mr. Kretschmer could not be reached before going to press but the Enterprise understands that he has one or two possible tenants.

Another local man had had no secret of the fact that he has been looking for desirable business property to be used for the same purpose. Up to the present time, he has been unable to find any that he thinks is within reason. The "asking price" of some North Bothwell street frontage is reported to be nearly $200 a foot, but no sales have been reported at that figure.

PALATINE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT WINS PRIZE IN SCIENCE QUESTIONS

Miss Verna Underwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Underwood, West Chicago Avenue, and a member of the general science class of the Palatine school received a communication Monday from Prof. H. A. Webb, editor of Current Science, Nashville, Tenn., a weekly Science Magazine stating that she has been awarded first prize for her answer to the questions asked in his magazine.

Miss Underwood's prize winning answer was written to the question "Why do telephone and telegraph wires often break in very cold weather?"

Mr. Webb enclosed the check for the prize and while it was only for a small sum, the honor of having her seventy five word answer judged the best over all other entries is an honor that most anyone would like to claim.

Mr. Kincaid, instructor in general science, when asked about the prize winning answer replied that Miss Underwood's writing an answer to the question was news to him and that he is highly pleased over her success.

"We have used the Current Science Magazine, along with numerous other similar publications, in our classes the past several years, believing that a course in science cannot be kept up to date, without perusing the papers and periodicals daily," said Mr. Kincaid in discussing the general science program.

Badly Injured in Auto Accident Account Storm

Mr. W. McKinney, employed by Dr. Lees, near Quentin Corners, was severely injured the night of the big storm last week. He is in the Palatine hospital with a fractured pelvis bone, injuries to the back, and otherwise badly bruised.

McKinney was traveling north on Hicks road and was picking his way across Dundee road when a big car driven by a Barrington man crashed into him. The small Ford truck driven by McKinney was crushed almost beyond recognition. That the man was not killed outright seems remarkable. The storm is blamed for the accident.

Three were sent to a Detroit hospital the other day as a result of a cent dropped on a street car floor. If it were not for this spirit, dominant in the human race, lawyers would starve to death.

See By The Paper

Down in Texas they opened the cornerstone of a Masonic building and found a frog sealed inside it 20 years ago still alive. He seemed normal in every way except that he couldn't open his mouth. Huh, I know a man that's had his head sealed in as tight as a vacuum for 20 years but he doesn't keep his mouth closed. He's always croaking and telling the world what's wrong with it. If the treatment will help any let's put him in a cornerstone for 20 years.

"You can't arrest me I'm a detective," didn't help Chief of Detectives Robert J. Burns. I see he goes to prison for refusing to testify before the senate. A little more of that kind of treatment might help the Dr. Ronetti case and the Glaser case in Chicago where the states chief witnesses have disappeared. The trouble is it all goes by pull in Chicago.

Baa Baa, Black Sheep
Have you any pull?
Yes Sir—yes sir—
And that's no bull

My uncle by marriage
Has a cousin named Hale
Who's fourth assistant bootlegger
at the Cook Co. Jail.

And by the way Tuesday's paper tells us that a man in Chicago is suing a building for being slapped by a revolving door. In the old days if anybody missed a stage coach he was contented to wait two or three days for the next. Now he lets out a squawk if he misses one section of a revolving door.

Another good man gone west, Edward Butler, founder of Butler Brothers passed away Monday in California. His career reads like a Horatio Alger book. Butler began as a bundle boy in a Boston dry goods store almost 70 years ago. His rise to the head of one of the largest firms of its kind sounds like a fairy story. And he didn't get caught in the groove of a big business either. Nine thousand graduates of the Glenwood training school near here will tell you what Ed Butler meant in their lives. And then some years ago a mysterious Mr. Ruble won a $400 prize for a painting called "And Then It Rained." Not until then was it known that in late life Mr. Butler had decided to take up painting as a hobby. He was the mysterious Mr. Ruble. Since then he has executed some canvases.

From the critics. Which reminds us that a stranger knocked at the door and said, "Young man, I've got something here for you that is worth while but it means hard work, long hours, much fatigue and severe application."

"What's your name," asked the young man.
"Opportunity."
"Huh, you don't sound like opportunity to me, you sound like hard work," and slammed the door.

So Judge Byrd, according to the Cook Co. Herald is going to make his school rounds by airplane, just because an Erskine he was cranking up, and hit him. Wonder what the Judge will do if his airplane gets stalled a thousand feet from old "terra firma." Will he get out and crank? Not everything that is called "Byrd" can fly and we haven't noticed any wings sprouting on the judge.

"Big Dollar Day, Arlington Heights" is the local headline. One of our good neighbors down near Elk Grove read this and said to her husband yesterday, "Hy, look up the weather for this week-end. They're having a wonderful Saturday day at the Heights Saturday and if its nice weather I want to drive up and get a lot of bargains. Husband consulting paper, "Snow, rain, hurricane, tornado, thunder, lightning."

LINDY—cleanest boy hero of the day, came to town early this week with the airmail. Some one tried to get him into a scheme that would mean millions in easy money but Lindy wouldn't listen.

They called him a fool—he would not sell his dreams
For millions, or his deeds for bread
But ever followed those illumining gleams
Shot from his own deep soul to peaks ahead.

Out again. In again. Finigan. That applies to our slot machines. First they are so legal that they can not be tampered with, then along comes some detectives who order them out. A few hours later, they are in again. Then somebody stirs up a rumormong in Chicago and they are ordered out for the protection of the school children.

The poor man who has them in his place does not know where he is at. There is only one sure thing, the fate of the slot machine is decided by "higher ups" in Chicago. The local authorities have nothing to say about it. Some day they will get up on their car and say: Get the h— out of here. Whose money is it that is providing all these profits anyway?

"Ye Scribe" has just one question to ask. What hold have the Chicago politicians on the country towns? Why can not the local villages themselves collect all of the "protection money." Why split it so many ways? Then the machines could stay with us all the time and the village could buy fire hose and fire trucks whenever they were so inclined.

Something is rotten in Denmark.

CONTRACTS LET BY COUNTY FOR ROAD PROJECTS

Waukegan road will be the first highway in Cook county to be widened to forty feet under the new county widening program. The contract for the widening of that highway between the village of Niles and Glenview road was awarded by the county board at its session Monday.

The contract was likewise awarded for the paving of Dundee road west from the viaduct between Palatine and Barrington to the Barrington-Dundee road. The latter road is now being graded and the paving will be done by the state. With the two latter projects completed a paved road will extend from Glenview upon the lake shore across the northern part of the county to Dundee. The following appeared in the Chicago Tribune on Tuesday.

To Waukegan road fell the lot of being the initial 40 foot rebuilding operation, and the county highway department announced that contractors would be on the highway with their equipment within two weeks.

The first contract covers that part of Waukegan road from Milwaukee Avenue to the Glenview Road. Bids are now being advertised for on the portion from Glenview to the county line. The former section is five miles in length and the latter six. Completion of the whole highway between Milwaukee avenue and the county line highway officials stated, probably will be effected by August.

One other widening contract was let Monday. That is upon 95th street from Cicero avenue to Austin Avenue.

A contract also was let for the beginning of the 40 foot south wide highway. The portion covered by the first contract lies between a point near Western avenue and 75th street and the city limits at 87th street and Crawford avenue.

The road contracts let Monday were:
Waukegan road, Jaicks Bros., 167,577.
95th street, States Imp. Co., $46,381.
Southwest Highway, J. P. O'Keefe & Co., $110,725.
Dundee road (20 ft.) J. M. Pierson & Co., $147,980.
Crawford Avenue (20 ft.), J. Mackler & Co., $32,304.
Harlem avenue (20 ft.) H. G. Goeltz Co., $9,483.

Bids upon the widening of Dempster street from Evanston to Niles were not awarded, although the Dempster street plans and bids were the first to go to the board from the $15,000,000 program. The qualification of some of the bidders was questioned and the road and bridge committee decided to defer action for a fortnight.

The same situation was encountered in regard to the bids that had been received for the construction of bridges at 31

PALATINE

Many Palatine people witnessed Ben Hur at Catlow's Theatre this week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Kramer, nee Herietta Kuntz, a daughter, Monday.

Miss Margie Paddock was host to the Junior Bachelor Girls Thursday afternoon.

Members of Palatine Chapter No. 585 O. E. S. will enjoy an old time dance following the regular meeting this Friday evening.

Arthur Mundy, of Arlington Heights, was a Palatine visitor Sunday.

Our postmaster was another man who had a vacation Wednesday, visiting Elgin.

Ivan Merrill, of Chicago celebrated Washington's birthday at the J. H. Toynton home.

Immanuel Walther League will meet on Thursday evening, March 1, 1928, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. James Toynton will spend the week-end with her daughter, Dorothy, at Champaign.

Rev. Robeson, of Lena, Ill., was a visitor over night at the H. H. Pahlman home first of the week.

Another car of Whippets arrived at the Henning garage this week, which proves the popularity of that car.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Born and Bernice saw "Hit the Deck" at the Woods Theatre, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Thiese and daughter and Oscar Krueger were Sunday guests at the H. F. Batterman and Walter Krueger home last Sunday.

Palatine friends of Rev. and Mrs. Stauffer were glad to greet them the first part of the week when they were here for a few hours.

Mrs. Marvin Plate and Mrs. N. L. Thompson were guests at a bridge party at the home of Kate Dozier in Chicago Tuesday.

The Sunday school class of Miss Priscilla Bicknese, of St. Paul's church had a delightful Washington birthday party Wednesday evening in the parlors of the church.

The Pinocchio Club surprised Mrs. H. H. Timmerman Feb. 21 in honor of her birthday. Prizes were won by Fred Langhorst, Lysette Pohlman, Tim Leursen and H. F. Pohlman.

Palatine Hills, the local subdivision now being featured by the McIntosh organization will be the scene of another big sale this Sunday. Two weeks ago over 50 lots were sold.

Three members of Palatine troop of boy scouts received honors at the scout rally at Barrington Wednesday night. They are Arthur Wildhagen for printing; Harold Meyer for bicycling and James Harz.

Speaking of Washington's birthday, it was gratifying to note the number of flags that were displayed that day. Too many towns are too busy to remember the father of our country.

Mrs. Maybelle Kincaid is substituting for Mrs. Opal Blum in Forest View school two miles south of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Kincaid has been serving as substitute teacher for a number of school districts.

The school children enjoyed a vacation on Wednesday, Washington's birthday, as also did many of the people who are employed in Chicago offices. The C. & N. W. R. offices were among those that shut down for the day.

Judge Henry Harz served as one of the honorary pall bearers Wednesday at the funeral of Dennis Egan, a prominent Democratic chieftain who died Sunday. Mr. Harz had talked with Mr. Egan two days before he died. Many prominent state and county officials attended the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Julian are having the pleasure of entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Nell Manning of Portland, Oregon, who will spend several weeks in this vicinity. The latter also expects to visit her son at Lima, Ohio, before her return to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Butler spent Wednesday afternoon and evening with their son, M. L. Butler at family in Chicago. The latter recently became a part of the organization of the Muehlhausen Spring Co., which has erected a new factory at Logansport, Ind. This necessitates the removal of Mr. Butler to that city.

The Naomi Girls of the St. Paul's Evangelical Sunday school had a Washington Party at the home of their teacher, Miss Malinda Mess. A very fine time was enjoyed. Those present were: Bernice Wente, Alice Oltendorf, Bernice Born, Kathryn Regenburt, Mildred Garms, Mae Philips, Emma Mae Burr, Leona Brockman, Francis Neitz, Leona Petersen and Miss Mary Plenty, guest.

The Lions Club held their meeting at the Neubold restaurant Monday night. With Mr. and Mrs. Neubold to furnish the dinners, Liorism is taking on a new lease of life. Failure to get a meeting place has caused the postponement of a number of meetings, but such troubles are now over. The Neubolds are noted for their meals and regular meeting night will be a fixture. The members will make a drive for membership and otherwise pep up the local den. On account of other duties, Mr. G. C. Butler resigned as secretary and the club elected E. P. Steinbrink to take his place.

August Timmerman is ill with the gripple.

HAVE YOU THE BOWLING CRAZE

The whole town is doing it. In former winters, the people who had all of the bowling fun were the semi local professionals. It is different this year. With the organization of various bowling teams, new material has been brought in to the game and that material is having all kinds of good times. There is a sort of comradeship behind a bowling ball that is catching.

One of those good times occurred the other night at the Dinse alleys. A number of members of the bowling team of the Brotherhood of St. Paul's church, were at the alleys, when in walked a party of ladies. The ladies challenged the men to an out and out, losers pay match. Here is the way the scores stacked up at the end of the game, the winners being given first in each instance. Mrs. Sanborn defeats C. H. Seip; Robert Schopp-Mrs. Seip; Harry Schopp-Mrs. Dinse; Mrs. Jessie Schroeder-Louis Schopp by one pin; H. H. Deverman-Mrs. Haldeman; Wm. Hokenmeyer-Mrs. Woodbury. Of course the ladies payed a few pins. Yes, the ladies payed the bill. The bowling alley is one place where the ladies and men

Palatine Bowling Notes

The Palatine Lutheran team invaded Park Ridge and won a very close game by 20 pins. A. Schwolow struck out, which did the trick for Palatine. Dr. Behnke of Park Ridge rolled 231, 183 and 245, totalling 659, but his team mates fell down. Capt. Gieseke had an off day, also. Heitbrink. The score now stands four to one in favor of Palatine. A. Schwolow shot 571. It was a hard fought game.

The Brotherhood of Northbrook bowled the Palatine brotherhood. The first team of Palatine, composed the supposedly Palatine stars, was defeated by the visitors, while the second team, composed of the "also rans" won their game. The boys had a good time.

Mrs. Haman Surprised On Birthday Anniversary

A host of friends surprised Mrs. Frank Hamann in honor of her birthday Monday, Feb. 20. The afternoon was spent in playing buncle, all having a very fine time. The guests were: Mrs. A. J. Brown, mother and son; Mr. and Mrs. Linnemeyer; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glade, grandma and Raymond; Mrs. Custer, Mrs. Langhorst and Irene; Mrs. Sternberg; Mr. Voss; Mrs. Ida Weseman and Mable; Mrs. Sophie Nordmeier, Della and Elmer; Mrs. Silas Nordmeier and Buddy; Mr. and Mrs. Pingle and of course Mr. and Mrs. Hamann.

EXTEND INVITATION
The Biltmore County club wishes to extend a cordial invitation to the people of Palatine to make use of the Ski and Toboggan slide on their property at Barrington. They have opened the club slide to the public to enjoy while the snow lasts.

There is fine skating on Honey and Grass Lake, and the public is cordially invited to bring their skis and toboggans up there and have a good time.

George Washington
Excerpts from Sermon of Feb. 19 By Rev. J. P. Stafford at Palatine Methodist Church
"The picture of George Washington kneeling in the snow at Valley Forge must never be obliterated from the memory of America. Valley Forge spells bitterness of suffering and fear of defeat, for the colonial cause. Facing starvation for his soldiers, whose bare feet left tracks of blood upon the snow, and facing the more deadly dissensions of the colonies whose only hope lay in a united and full cooperation, George Washington was driven to his knees in prayer. In the thickest midst the howling winds of that dreaded winter, the soldiers saw their leader asking help from the Divine Leader. Truly someone has said that Valley Forge was the spiritual birthplace of America.

The late Henry Cabot Lodge said once, "What was it raised Washington to such heights of glory?" Then answered his own question, "It was his great talents, constantly guided and guarded by religion." Likewise it may be asserted of the country of which Washington was the father, that if our nation must attain and keep its glory, it must be because our great resources and our wondrous people are guided and guarded by religion.

"It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in men or princes." The central truth of our national life is identical with the middle verse of the Bible. "Our national safety and peace, with all worth while prosperity, depend on a real and vital trust in God and obedience to His will."

Catlow to Show "A Texas Steer" With Will Rogers

Famous Humorist in Natural Role of Congressman in Screen Version of Celebrated Comedy
"A Texas Steer," the famous farce by Charles Hoyt, has at last reached the screen with Will Rogers in the role of the Texas cattleman elected to Congress against his wishes.

The photoplay, a comedy special produced by Sam E. Rork for First National Pictures, as the outstanding laugh feature of the year, will be shown at the Catlow Theatre, Barrington, Saturday, Feb. 25.

Will Rogers is in a natural role as a Congressman after having kidded Congress so many years, none of the cowboy-humorist's rare humor is missed even in the subtitles. A star of the picture, he also wrote his own titles.

The all star supporting cast for Mr. Rogers is headed by Louise Fazenda as "Ma" Brander, his wife; Bossy, the daughter, is Ann Rork; Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is the dandy sweetheart, and George Marion, Sr., the original Fishback, negro politician, as Minister to Dahomey, has the screen characterization. Others in featured roles are Lilyan Tashman, Mack Swain, Lucian Littlefield, William Orlamond, Arthur Hoyt, Bud Jaimison.

Richard Wallace, who made "McFadden's Flats," as a comedy triumph for First National, directed "A Texas Steer."

Harvester Among Year's Worth While Films
A simple love tale, simply told, and all the more powerful because of its very simplicity, is "The Harvester," the screen adaptation of Gene Stratton-Porter's widely read novel, which opened an engagement yesterday at the Catlow Theatre, Barrington.

Seldom, indeed, are theatre goers afforded an opportunity of seeing a motion picture which is so pleasingly unfolded, and against backgrounds so filled with natural beauty. Particularly in respect to the scenic investiture of the production, "The Harvester" achieves the distinction of showing us something which is entirely new.

Since the story of the novel is laid at the famous Lumberlost Cabin of the late Mrs. Porter, and since Director Leo Meehan is also her son-in-law, he transported his entire company to the Lumberlost estate in Indiana, and photographed the exterior scenes in that location. The result shows a freshness of scenery that is especially pleasing.

In the title role of the "Harvester," Orville Caldwell, a strapping young giant with a most engaging personality, delivers a performance that at once places him in the front rank of leading men. No less may be said of Natalie Kingston, a beautiful young girl whose elevation to prominence on the screen has been swift and sure.

Delightful characterizations are delivered by Jay Hunt and Will Walling, two veterans who have the easy unaction and histrionic facility that are the product of long experience. These, with Lola Todd, Edward Hearn and Fanny Midgely, constitute a cast which is exceptional.

Photographically, "The Harvester" is one of the most beautiful productions of the year, and is a tribute to the artistry of Allen Siegler, cameraman.

Altogether you will find this picture to be among those which are decidedly worthwhile.

Local Northwest Suburban Council Wins Big Victory

There are many councils in U. S. similar to the N. W. Suburban each one paying an executive to carry out the program of scouting, and each one is given a rating by each region executive. This rating takes into consideration every phase of scouting, and a splendid record under the direction of George F. Landane, the scout executive has been made. For the year ending Dec. 1926, the N. W. Suburban Council was in the 103 position out of 106 councils in the states of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. July first the council had crept up to 16th position, and as of December 31st, 1927, the council rating was tenth which is a splendid achievement, when it is considered that not only is the council one of the area type which is the most difficult to handle but in addition to that the council has passed many older in years of service. At an executive board meeting of the council Monday evening at the Methodist church in Park Ridge, Mr. Bevans the president of the council highly commended Mr. Landane for his splendid showing and praise was given by others present, especially by Mr. W. G. Miller of Park Ridge and Mr. Mueller of Arlington Heights. Other guests to hear of the report and who went on record to make 1928 a banner year giving of their support were Mr. Williams and Mr. Smith of Palatine, Mr. W. E. Jones and Mr. Clark of Park Ridge and Mr. Melzer of Des Plaines. Mr. Landane stated that had some of the men given their support even to a slight degree that, the council would have taken first place and he is determined to carry off this honor for 1928, but this can only be accomplished where every man does his bit.

Wholesome Citizenship in Dollars and Cents
For every day that a delinquent boy stays in the Juvenile Detention Home, there is an expense to the community of approximately $2.60. In other words a hundred boys from Chicago and Cook county who have to be detained by the law will cost the county $260.00, for every day they are detained. A large number of the boys dealt with by the Juvenile Court finally have to go to correctional institutions. The cost to maintain a boy in a correctional institution ranges from $45.00 to $55.00 per month or in round figures from $500 to $1000 a year.

Figures show that these boys who go to institutions are not reclaimed for society and that a high percentage of them go on in lives of crime and lawlessness and finally have to be sent to adult criminal institutions where the cost of keeping them is even higher not to mention the cost of apprehending and trying these individuals for crimes committed. Moreover, if we are to consider the cost to the community, we should have to include tremendous cost in terms of goods and money stolen and to persons injured or killed by criminals, of property damaged, etc.

It is quite evident then that any method or agency or organization that works to prevent a boy from ever beginning a career of delinquency is doing work that saves the state millions of dollars in money as well as saving for the

Miss Jennie Jenkinson came out from the city Tuesday night and spent her holiday Wednesday with her brother, Harry Jenkinson, who we are sorry to learn continues too ill to get out.

The Tribune Wednesday records the death of Mr. Charles Dantel in his Chicago home. Mrs. Dantel and her children, Hall and Virginia, will be remembered here when they had boarded one or more seasons with the Perry family.

The basketball team of the intermediate school will have as its contenders next Friday, the basketball team from Elmhurst. The game will be played at the Arlington Heights high school gymnasium. The next game will be on March 1, against Glen Ellyn. The tournament will be held the latter part of March. The intermediate schools in the conference, who will compete in the tournament are: Elmhurst, Villa Park, Wheaton, Glen Ellyn, Lombard and Arlington Heights. The event will be held at Lombard high school gymnasium.

Mrs. Rexford Volz writes from the south the 18th "Good roads, good food always, and of course beautiful scenery with a most thrilling historical background. Today, cold, cold, cold, snow on the mountains all around us, and all standing water frozen over. Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Volz are expected home at this week-end.

Grades 5, 6 and 7, of the intermediate school were guests of the high school at a special Washington Day program Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Raoul Peeter attended a pre-nuptial shower in the home of Mrs. Neilson in honor of Miss Proebe, last Thursday in Chicago. Mrs. Neilson is the niece of our dear old neighbor, Mrs. Enwald, and the son of Mrs. Neilson is to marry Miss Proebe. Mrs. Peeter says Mrs. Enwald, who was present, was well and sent kind messages to her old neighbors in Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Blume are expected home first of next week, coming north to enjoy the balmy spring weather.

Mrs. Schoenbeck, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. E. C. Wilke, in North Dunton avenue, is the victim of a painful case of joint rheumatism, aggravated by the changeable weather.

Mr. John Frolich drove out from the city in a brand new car to spend the week with his daughter, Mrs. Peeter, who is shut in with asthma.

Saturday afternoon last week, Mrs. Arthur McElhose and Miss Esther Miltzer gave a party for their united Sunday school classes and their mothers in the Lutheran school building. Valentine decorations and appropriate colorful refreshments, cakes, hearts and all that accompanies the Good Saint's name. A novel feature was inhibiting of their milk through straws, slowly as is best. It was a happy gathering for both teachers and pupils, and a perfect success.

Be careful how you spend February's extra day, the 29th.

FUNDAMENTAL QUESTIONS

H. C. Fricke
Pastor, Lutheran Church
WHAT IS MAN?

There is no doubt that man is the foremost creature on the face of the earth. He differs from the animal in that he has a rational mind and the ability to improve his conditions of life. He is a thinking, reasoning creature, able to express himself in intelligible speech. For these reasons man has subjugated the lower creatures to his will to serve his needs, and is ever making progress in subduing nature and harnessing its powers.

This superiority over the rest of the creature world has led man to place an undue estimate on his own importance. He shows himself capable of unlimited pride. He rushes about this world with great self-importance, puffed up with the success of his own little accomplishments, taken up with all manner of petty affairs, boasting, scheming, planning, building, forgetting entirely that after all he is but a creature of the moment, who will soon pass away to be forgotten.

He lives for a short time, for but a moment of eternity and then is cast away from his unfinished plans and returns to the earth from which he was taken. He is capable of great development, as the accomplishments of the last centuries abundantly prove. His observing mind has enabled him to surround himself with many comforts in the workshop and in the home, has prompted much progress in field of science, has made many discoveries and inventions to lighten the tasks of life.

And yet, all these accomplishments have not really changed man. Fundamentally, he is the same creature today in this enlightened age as he was four thousand years ago. Scientific and inventive progress have changed his mode of life, but they have not changed the inner man. They have not freed him from the iron law of his own short-lived fate.

Man today bears the same burdens as did his earliest forefathers. He is subject to the same weaknesses and imperfections, of the body and the mind; the same desires, passions and vices grip him with iron claws and spoil his life and happiness. It is true years of civilization have given a veneer to man's manners, but man has not grown better at heart. Within the soul of the polished gentleman there lies slumbering the vicious instincts of primitive savages often a mere spark is required to flame them into action.

All his conquests on the earth have not brought him nearer to the solution of the great problem of eternity; neither have they brought him nearer to God. As a matter of fact, his proud attainments seem to have led him farther away from God. His progress in the mastery over the laws of nature has served to puff him up with a feeling of self-sufficiency and has prompted him to ask with Pharaoh: "Who is the Lord, whose name I must obey?"

And yet with all his boasted achievements, man is still absolutely dependent on God and morally responsible to Him from the first to the last breath. Man is not "a law unto himself," free to live, to act, to speak according to his own desires and principles. He is a responsible being, held accountable to his creator for every phase of his life, for "in Him we live and move, and have our being."

Friend, what is the verdict of your own conscience? How have you complied with the laws and ideals which God has established as the basis for human conduct? An honest, searching survey of the record of your life, must force you to the conclusion which Paul reached: "There is no difference, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

Mt. Prospect to Have Own Beauty Shop

The ladies of Mt. Prospect now have their own beauty parlor. There will now be no need for them to go out of town for that marcel or shampoo. Harry Baldwin, Jr., recognizing the need of a beauty parlor has secured the services of Miss Grimm, who is well known to all of us. She is a graduate of one of the Chicago beauty colleges and is fully competent in her line. The Mainbarber shop is now in a position to be of real service to the ladies, from hair trim and shampoo to the most artistic coiffure.

Dollar, Dollar Who Has The Dollar

There will be two good dollar bills floating around in the Arlington Heights stores on Dollar Day awaiting to be claimed. The persons who find them will be rewarded with two admission tickets to the Arlington theatre.

The dollars will be given out in change from some store. You see it is this way. Early Saturday morning, Mr. Otto Heimann will spend two dollar bills in two stores in Arlington Heights. The serial numbers that will be borne by these two dollar bills are K48935460D and M60819522D. The stores receiving them will put the bills in their cash registers and allow them to be passed out as change some time during the day. The person finding either one of them will receive two admission tickets to the Arlington theatre and another dollar bill in exchange for the bill bearing either one of the above numbers.

Watch your dollars on Saturday.

Bloomers Is Dollar Day Special at 5c & 10c Store

Ladies Bloomers at one dollar each is the special for dollar day at the Arlington Heights 5c and 10c variety store. They are extra size, full cut, double seams and saddle seats, charming cloth, fine silk finish and the regular price is $1.39.

Cheer for the undertakers: It is predicted that 1928 is going to be a great motor year.

BENSENVILLE

Mrs. A. D. Portner of George street and Mrs. W. F. Franzen of Mason street, are both reported ill at their homes this week. All wish them a speedy recovery.

The "500" party given by the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Woman's Club Tuesday evening, was well attended for as many other attractions as were being put on that evening. Mrs. George Franzen won the first prize while several others fared very well as there were several good prizes donated by different members of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Salsgaber's little daughter entertained a number of her little friends at her birthday party Tuesday afternoon.

Master George Shaw entertained a number of his boy and girl friends at a party in honor of his 10th birthday Wednesday evening. The present had a very enjoyable time.

Those who were able to attend the entertainment and picture show given at the high school Tuesday evening are loud in their praises for the entire program. The picture which was put on the screen by the new machine recently purchased and placed in the new high school was wonderful and so plainly seen that many claimed it was by far the best they had ever seen.

The next boxing bout will be held at Bensenville soon. Advance notice will be found soon in the Register and Herald.

Mrs. Emma Seilkopf, who resides on Mason street, has been ill a short time, but is reported improving.

Mrs. Stanger and Mrs. Lottie Shaw spent a day last week visiting at the home of Otto Stanger in Chicago.

Don't forget the M. W. A. big time for the Woodman and Royal Neighbors Monday evening, Feb. 27.

Before long an old couple from Kansas will visit Bensenville in search of a very dear friend and we know that their visit here will be enjoyed by many. We have this advance notice and will keep posted as to the actual date of their arrival, so that all can make it their business to see and interview the old couple for further information.

The I. O. O. F. dance Saturday evening, was well attended. All those present had an enjoyable time.

Miss Mary O'Keefe, of Madison, Wis., spent the week-end with her brother, James, and sister, Mrs. Robert DiVall at the home of the I. O. O. F. dam here Saturday evening. Miss O'Keefe says she always enjoys attending the dances given at Bensenville and usually arranges her visits here for a time when a dance is being given. Her mother also resides here with Mrs. DiVall, so that is also a drawing card here for Mary for there is always a wonderful time in store for all who visit mother.

Speaking of social events, Tuesday evening, Feb. 16, was full of 'em here. Members of the Cantata had their practice. The Woman's Club gave a "500" party, the new high school gave their first moving picture entertainment as well as presenting the high school band in their first public appearance and Mrs. Edward Sprandel entertained the Circle of Des Aimes Club at her home. Oh, boy, lots going on at the same time.

Skates and sleds seem to be the prevailing pastime articles since the snappy spell and the falling of the snow. Well let the youngsters enjoy it for "Old Sol" is getting so high right now that it won't last very long.

Engineer A. H. Pierron has returned to his work after being absent from duty during the illness and death of Mrs. Pierron's mother. Donald Smethurst and Miss Adaline Baruth attended a birthday party at the Baruth home in Itasca Sunday. The party was in honor of Miss Baruth's father and as Donald's birthday was the day before, all gladly joined in making it a double affair. An enjoyable time was had by those present.

In last week's Register, we read the advance writeup of the Bensenville-Arlington Heights game, and as it was written by an Arlington Heights team, it was predicted that the Bensenville team would both win and lose. We had to attend to see if the prophecy came true. Well it ended 50-50. Bensenville's 2nd team running away with their game and Arlington's 1st team doing the same thing in their game, but the Bensenville boys put up a good game against the fast team they were up against.

Mr. Frank Sutherland, who is a locomotive engineer on the Milwaukee railroad between Chicago and Savannah, Ill., was somewhat under the weather last week and unable to go out on his run. All hope to see him back in the cab soon with that usual smile he always wears.

Mrs. Louise Sutter and daughter, of Palatine, visited her mother, Mrs. J. Bodenburg Tuesday and attended her club meeting held at Mrs. Sprandel's that evening.

Well, well, last week just as we were all commenting on the different sure signs of an early spring and all glad to see the robins in the back yards, the weather man calmly seated himself in his easy chair, placed his feet on a foot stool before the open fireplace, gave orders for the shutters to be closed tight, all storm doors to be locked and quietly predicted snow or rain and as far as the snow part of the prediction was concerned, he was hit it this time, for such a snow storm as we experienced. No one able to find their way in the storm and all had to close all doors, build up a roaring fire and watch the worst storm of the season. About 12 inches of snow fell on the level ground and the wind blew so hard from the northwest, kept the snow moving till in places snow drifts five and six feet deep were piled up. The new sidewalk snow plow, which the village recently purchased, was brought into use and within a few hours after the storm abated pedestrians found no trouble in getting around town. Following this the DuPage county highway snow plow soon cleared York street and we could all see our way out. But to say the least, it was some storm. We are all wondering now if this is the last for this winter.

Mrs. Ed. Bartholmey is reported ill at her home on York street.

Mrs. Harry Craigmile went to the Francis Willard Hospital where she underwent a serious operation Monday. She is reported doing nicely and many friends wish for her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Craigmile is very active in club, society and church work and had to leave some of her work for other members of her committees during her absence. They will all be more than glad to see her return, although all are willingly taking her place as best they can.

Mrs. A. Hinz, son, Roy and Mrs. Richard Hawkins of Elmhurst, left Sunday for Portland, Oregon. They intend to visit Mrs. Hinz's sister, Mrs. Bartholmey, formerly Miss Ella Hinz of Bensenville. It is not certain as to the date of their return.

The Sigma Chi Sigma girls enjoyed a very interesting afternoon and evening at the home of Miss Margaret Clover in Evanston. The entire sorority took the 12:48 train Saturday and met Miss Clover at the Union Depot. Miss Clover had prepared a novel entertainment for her guests and the girls partook of a delicious repast, consisting mainly of Valentine dainties. After they had spent the greater part of the evening in socializing, the girls departed to catch the 8:30 train.

Mrs. M. Fischer, Lincoln street, and her daughter, Selma, went to Chicago Wednesday to witness the snappy entertainment at the Chicago Theatre. Wednesday there was no school and the two made good use of the opportunity to have an enjoyable time.

Tuesday evening, Feb. 21, the Bensenville high school band made their initial appearance. The band has been practising long and earnestly and it will not be long before they will be in as good musical trim as the rest of them. Douglas Fairbanks in "The Mark of Zorro," was the title of the picture which entertained the Bensenville school. Many more such educational films will be shown at the high school, and if you enjoyed this last affair do not forget to attend future gatherings of this nature.

Irvin Franzen celebrated his birthday Feb. 19. Several relatives and friends helped him do the honors. A grand entertainment was given for him at the Franzen hall.

The Junior class have begun rehearsals for the Junior play which is to be presented March 23. The name of the piece which has been selected is "The Whole Town's Talking." It is a farce comedy written by John Emerson, and Anita Loos. This play proves to be one of the most interesting affairs that has occurred for a long time. If you care to see a good entertainment make it your special business to see the "The Whole Town's Talking."

George Rands, father of Mr. W. A. Rands formerly of Bensenville, died Tuesday, Feb. 14. George was 82 years of age. He was born in Canada two weeks ago, but returned home shortly as his father seemed to be greatly improving in health. The people of Bensenville extend their deep regret and sympathy.

Arlington Heights came over to Bensenville last Friday evening with the very great intention of beating us in both of the Northwest Conference games, but they were sadly disillusioned in their broadest hopes. Bensenville carried the laurels in the second team game by a score of 26-20. The team played harder that night than they have in a long, long time. In the first two quarters of the big game it looked as though we would be left badly stranded, but in the fourth quarter we picked up some pep and ran the score up to 30-22, which considered the protest boasts made by the Arlington Heights fellows was not really so far in the rear. Our next conference game will be played with Libertyville on our own gymnasium floor. Everyone come and make good use of your lungs. Let young "Sheik" inspire you with new pep, when yells with "Wim and Winegar."

There is a lot of practicing going on in Bensenville for the preparation of a community cantata which is to be given sometime soon. Many of the surrounding villages seem to be involved in the proceedings, therefore the affair promises to be even more interesting.

Saturday evening a novelty dance was held in Social Hall. Several parties from out of town attended the occasion and everyone present seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

The Sigma Chi Sigma girls presented a very beautiful flag to the Bensenville Community high school. They purchased the flag with money which they had earned themselves by giving various entertaining affairs. This is not the first gift they have made to the school. The pretty piano which stands very noticeably in the assembly was also donated to the school by the Sigma Chi Sigma girls. With the presentation of the flag they gave a patriotic program in commemoration of George Washington's birthday, which was nicely done.

Mrs. B. I. LaSalle, who has been ill quite a period, is on the road to recovery. The illness seemed to be a long drawn out affair, but in a very short time she will be entirely well again.

The little Finley boy, who was run over not long ago, is very much improved and is able to get about on crutches. The injury was thought to be serious but he will be as well as ever before long.

REPLACE OLD GASKETS

When the top of the vacuum tank has been disassembled, as it more frequently is during cold weather when fuel troubles arise, should use a new cork gasket in putting the tank together again. It is well to remember that a leak in the vacuum tank is one of the most effective ways of stopping the engine from functioning. The old gasket may look all right, but it is very likely to be damaged during the removal process. Replacement is so inexpensive that it does not pay to take a chance with the old part.

ITASCA

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Franzen and family attended the funeral of Mrs. Franzen's brother, Herman C. Heine, who died Thursday, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Heine had been with the Chicago postoffice for many years. He worked for the government when the postoffice was on the lake front. The funeral was held at the Lutheran Memorial Evangelical church at 11:30 a. m. and was attended by three brothers and 3 sisters and an aged father.

There was a mistake in announcing the movies last week. Black Beauty will not be shown until March 30. Next Friday night there will be a Juvenile drama entitled "The Heart of a Doll" and the "Pawn Shop" by Charlie Chaplin.

Several Itasca friends attended the funeral of Ed. Runge at Bensenville Monday.

Mr. Basil Burns, principal of the public school, spent the week-end with David Gronewald at Naperville college. Saturday they saw Naperville win over Wheaton at basketball.

Invitations are out for a Masonic dance to be given at the village hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 25.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Franzen entertained a large party of Itasca friends Wednesday evening, in honor of their son, Raymond, and bride, who have recently returned from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Aug. Frederick, Sr., entertained a party of friends Sunday evening at a chicken dinner in honor of her husband's 70th birthday. Adelbert McKenzie was home over the week-end from Carroll college, Waukegan, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Franzen of Fox Lake, Ill., were guests at the home of Mrs. H. H. Franzen home Saturday and Sunday. They came to attend the funeral of their uncle, Herman Heine.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hammeier and children, who are moving from Pittsburgh, Penn., to Michigan arrived in Itasca Monday, and will visit relatives here before settling in their Michigan home.

Lenten services will begin Wednesday in Itasca churches.

Howard Chessman and Raymond Franzen are both planning to build homes on Oak street this spring.

The township teachers meeting for February was held at the public school Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baruth of Chicago were guests at the Wm. Baruth home Sunday.

Telephone men are rushing the work of completing the Itasca central. Nearly all old phones have been changed and renumbered. The work of installing new phones will then be taken up.

The Men's Bible class of the Evangelical church have purchased and installed a very neat bulletin board on the lawn of the church.

Bensenville in 1903

(From the DuPage Co. Register)
Feb. 21, 1903

All the ice houses are filled now. Wm. Stellman delivered 500 loads to Bensenville.

Wm. Stellman, Henry Thiemann, Henry Franzen and Henry Heuer went to the city to buy themselves four overcoats.

Mr. Louis Busse doesn't want to take a back seat from Bensenville. They made up their minds that they needed a new church and are going to build this summer. Henry Kirchhoff donated a building site, 200x150 feet, on Cleveland avenue.

Low Bell was in Chicago Tuesday. Next morning when he went to feed his chickens Mike was gone. He called "Mike" but the bird was gone, so he had to get another Mike from a farmer south-east of Bensenville for which he paid $1. He is a cracker jack.

The village board at present, is between the "Devil and the deep sea." Part of their public drains are clogged up. One party threatens to bring damage suit for not cleaning it and other parties if they do clear it, so they are sure to have some exciting time before long.

Rev. Leifer of Elmhurst preached at Glide Hall Sunday as Rev. Flees was called away.

Dr. and Mrs. Bartells have returned from their trip to the West Indies. Both are looking well after their trip.

Mr. Kortbauer was called to the Addison Orphan Home to extend the water works put in by him 3 years ago.

Our Mayor wears a black eye as the result of running against a large door at the new ice house which gave him a hard blow in the face.

The plans for the new paragon at Wolf's church are now ready to be looked into by contractors.

Louis Brettman intends to lay out a new subdivision about two blocks southwest of the depot this spring.

The searchlight people have put up one of their light lamps in front of Kortbauer's store and will leave it there for a month's trial so the city fathers can see what kind of light they give.

Bensenville new church and Sunday school were well attended Sunday. Their subscription list now shows $2,700.

Why don't some of our capitalists build a lot of houses to rent, we have two of the foundry foremen from Franklin Park now as residents and we could get any amount of tenants from there as they all say they would rather live in Bensenville than Franklin Park.

Henry Thiemann, agent for Birk Bros. Brewing Co., for this region, filled the ice house of their beer depot here this week. He gets a carload of beer every two weeks or oftener, also handles beer in bottles, malt liquors and export.

The Des Plaines Telephone Co. have been granted a 20 year franchise by the village of Addison, and as soon as the ground is cleared enough will begin setting poles from Ehler's corner to the orphan home at Addison, a distance of about 5 miles with some 25 subscribers. They will also construct a line from Des Plaines to Sigwalt's corner, taking in all the Busses and from there expect to get into Bensenville Heights. There will also be an extension from Feehanville to Wheeling and Deerfield and a line from Des Plaines to Park Ridge.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO

Arlington Heights
Mrs. Karstens is very ill with pneumonia.

Miss Mamie Schmidt, who was sick a week, is slowly improving.

Richard Lorenzen and wife, of Chicago, spent Sunday with friends here.

A Valentine party was held at the home of Geo. Allison, Friday evening, Feb. 13.

Mrs. Chas. McElhose, who has been spending a few weeks at the Heights, leaves for St. Louis Friday morning.

Fred Rascher and family mourn the loss of their faithful mouser, which died of old age Feb. 9. The cat was 14 to 15 years old.

Christ Wilke of Union, is here visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. John Kolling took a severe cold while working in his factory about ten days ago, and has been very sick ever since.

It is generally conceded that the present village board should complete the work they have so well begun and get both honor and kick-back for our sewerage and water works systems. Ed. H. Bolte seems to be popular man to succeed Edw. G. Roeder, as village clerk. If Ed takes hold of the books, they will be kept in good systematic shape. He is always on deck ready for business.

Miss Alvina Meyer and Mr. Geo. Behrens are to be married at 6 o'clock p. m. Sunday, Feb. 22, by Rev. Noack at St. Peter's Lutheran church.

White-Coolley
Just at noon Thursday, as the sun, struggling thru the gray clouds of a wintry sky, flooded the parlor with soft, warm tints, Mr. J. Thomas White and Miss Mary A. Coolley were joined in marriage by Rev. W. T. Reynolds at the home of the bride's mother.

Wheeling
Walter Lips will work Adam Weber's farm this year.

Mrs. Christ Wendling takes the lead in raising pretty flowers in the house. Her callianthes, primroses and begonias are beautiful.

B. F. Stryker and wife were surprised by about thirty friends Feb. 12.

Adam Weber writes that they are enjoying spring weather in Oklahoma. The grass is green and the birds are singing.

Rev. Oltmans has organized a singing class to meet in the church every Thursday evening.

B. F. Stryker has the thanks of the little people in the primary room for their first sleigh ride.

The young people enjoyed a sleigh ride out to the Storey home where they had a good social time last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Undernauer, one of the old residents of Wheeling, died at her home in Chicago Friday.

Miss Ada Wessling entertained a small party of friends at her home Saturday evening. The occasion was to celebrate her birthday. The young people indulged in a sleigh ride after which the evening was spent playing progressive crokinole.

Mt. Prospect
J. C. Moehling has over 100 industrious pigeons producing squabs for market.

Hon. Louis Busse, will move his family next week from his farm to the village and take life easy the rest of his days.

L. W. Wille has been delivering hard coal to customers in Des Plaines the past two weeks at $10.50 a ton. He has received three cars recently while Des Plaines dealers can't get any.

Palatine
Mrs. Reynolds visited at Park Ridge Sunday.

Henry Ruggles and Lee Bissel visited high school Monday.

John Gainer will soon be able to say hello over a phone, to the rest of us.

Dollar Day Arrives Tomorrow; 40 Stores Co-operate In Event

FRIEND WIFE SEEKS BARGAINS ON DOLLAR DAY

Tomorrow is Dollar Day in Arlington Heights. The special edition containing five pages of dollar day bargains that appeared in the Cook County Herald on Tuesday was carefully read by a great many subscribers. The bargains are so unusual that it is difficult to pick out the best "bargain" in each of the stores. That is the job that the Herald has asked an Arlington housewife to attempt. All readers may not agree with her method of reasoning, but here it is.

(By Mary Jane, Herself)
This is a real job that has been "wished" upon me, a housewife, who has never before written anything for publication. I have frequently wished that I had the job of reviewing plays, especially pic-

Arlington Heights second annual dollar day takes place next Saturday. It promises to be a bigger and greater dollar day than a year ago. Twenty-five per cent more of the stores are participating in the event this year than last year. The stores have had ample time to arrange their bargains and the five solid pages of dollar day bargains that are to be found in this issue are filled with money saving opportunities. The prices quoted in these ads have only to be read to be appreciated. The stores are making an honest and good-faith effort to present to the buying public of Arlington Heights and vicinity a great array of bargains — so many that there will not be a reader of this paper who resides within buying distance, who will not desire to come to Arlington Heights next Saturday.

The Cook County Herald is offering $20 in cash to the five people who make dollar day purchases in the greater number of stores. Proper blanks to participate in these prizes are to be found in the business places participating in dollar day. Be sure to secure the endorsement of your dealer upon the purchase tickets. Only those dealers whose names are shown in the adjoining column are authorized to sign the purchase tickets. Signatures of others will not be counted by the judges.

ture shows. I would not care very much about writing what I thought of the plays, but the experience of using a pass at any theatre that I elected to attend, has always appealed to me.

But this time I need no ticket. I find before me five solid pages of dollar day announcements. It is my job to pick out the best buy in each store. I know that you will not all agree with me. The best thing to do is to get a copy of that edition and "check up" on my selections.

Well, here goes.
Let's see, on Page one, first comes the announcement of the Arlington Toggery. They do not sell anything that I wear, but I have to buy so many socks for my husband I will welcome the opportunity to get them at a reduction of 25 per cent.

Oh, joy! An American Beauty iron for $6.25. Now, I can just hear my hubby say when he reads this, "Why pick out the most expensive." I will reply, "why not, the saving is no more upon a cheaper iron." I forgot to say that Hill Electric Shop is the place that is offering that saving.

Here is the Gaare Motor Sales. What do I know about a sealed can of Mobiloil, or a spark plug? On these items, I will only say, "pay your money and take your choice."

At Studtmann Bros. there are a whole flock of good buys, but if you follow me to that store, you will find that I will get some of those rag rugs. Perhaps it is because my family is all the time wearing out rag rugs. The boys will not wipe their feet upon the mat outside the door. They like to do it inside upon the pretty rug and I do not blame them much when the rugs are so cheap.

Shoes at One Dollar. That is Bolte's adv. It must be true. That is the first store I am going to visit next Saturday. It will be so crowded later in the day, that I am going to get mine while the getting is good.

The first adv. says, "start to save with a dollar." Perhaps I will if I have any dollars left after making the rounds of the stores on dollar day. If my hubby allows me to keep all the money I save on Dollar Day, I will have several dollars to place in the Peoples State Bank.

I have no chickens, but I am going to save a dollar on a barrel of flour at the Arlington Heights Roller Mills. Where am I going to keep the flour? Well, here is the secret. I am going to pay Mr. Lindner for the four sacks, then I am going to ask him to store three of them for me. How is that for a bright idea?

I am not going to pass anybody up on Dollar day and while I have no money to invest I am going to make believe that I have a thousand, just for the experience of having Herman Redeker tell me where to put it. Perhaps I will tell you his answer next week.

Next comes the gift shop. I am going to put one over there. I am continually being asked to donate prizes. Well, I am going to take some of those "drastic price reductions" and stock up on prizes. The next time you ask me for a bunch of prizes, I will say "certainly, my dear, here it is."

There surely is a big dollar rolling your way in the announcement of the Arlington Heights State Bank. I hope I can grab a few on Saturday that some other people have missed and if so, I am going to square up my Christmas Savings account to date. My husband doesn't know that I have got one—that is why I am behind.

I have saved a nickel already. Here I find a 95c sale on dollar day. What it is doing there, I do not know, but if Mr. Reese will guarantee that egg beater, I am going to get it. Somebody wrecked mine the other night and I do not know who did it. I will keep the new one where only the cook (and that's me) knows where it is.

Did you ever attempt to keep a daughter in silk stockings. I do not mean at night time. I mean to keep free from runs and holes the pair she wears on. Hartman's Shoe Store has them three for a dollar. Sounds good and I am going to hand my high school daughter a pair Monday, another for Tuesday and another for Wednesday. If she wants to wear silk stockings the other days of the week, she can start over again. But leaving all joking aside, if none of my friends are watching, I am going to try on some of those $1.00 pumps.

That's that for page No. 2.
Six gallons of gas for $1.00. I am not going to make this buy. Dad pays for the gasoline, but I am going to send him over there as soon as he gets back from Chicago. That bargain ought to sound attractive to every car owner.

The Sieburg drug store is noted for its sales. They have a whole lot of them in their announcement. What shall I buy. I would get the shampoo, but ever since Christmas, I have been patronizing the hair dresser, and of course, it would not be right to take away one of her customers. I have it. I am going to surprise friend husband with a box of those cigars. You know he liked the ones I gave him for Christmas so much that he treated all of his friends. And while I am buying something for me, a box of those chocolate cherries.

Here we are again to another garage. A wheel lock would not do us any good. We have tried for six months to get somebody to steal our car, but I would invest in one of those heaters. No matter how old your car may be, you like to keep comfortable when in it. I came near reaching forward and taking that dollar that the young lady in the Davis Store announcement is holding forth. There are a lot of good bargains there, but lean forward and I will tell you why I am going to buy several of those sheets. The other day my sister-in-law came to see us. It was the day of the big storm. She and her family could not go home. I had to put them up for the night. I had to do an awful thing. Do not get shocked. I had to take the sheets off our own bed. Isn't that awful? I am never going to get caught that way again.

Another gas station. The Arlington Heights Service Station, on Mors Parkway. It does not take me long to make my selection here. Two cans of soap leak. I am going to doctor up that left hind tire of our car. I am always having trouble with it. Hubby says that he can not afford a new tire until after Dollar Day. Can you beat that?

I am going to buy that meat for Sunday at the Wagon. Market. Four pounds of pork loin for a dollar is too good a bargain to pass up. Here we are at the A. & P. I am not going to have too much money in my pocketbook when I enter that store. I would not have much left when I came out. The best buy I think is the 17 pounds of sugar.

Hurray! I am going to get some change for my dollar at the Square Deal Fruit Market. When I hand him a dollar, he is going to give me back 10c. That sounds attractive.

Excuse me while I go to the bank. I ran out of money. The cashier was very nice when I explained to him that hubby had given me his permission to enter the contest for trading at the greatest number of stores. I promised to pay him back next day. The cashier agreed with me that I should not miss any of the dollar day bargains.

We are now ready for page four. Here is where I save a whole dollar. The Blue Ribbon bakery offers a $1.25 purchase ticket for a dollar, goods to be selected any time. Now I will not have to charge that dollar to the expenses of this shopping errand. I will get the ticket but I can charge this expenditure to my regular "table account."

I have been trying to get somebody to do a lot of painting around our house for some time. Hubby, in spite of all of his "yeses" has never sent the painter around. I am going to visit the Arlington Heights Paint Store and keep home a can of paint and a brush and threaten to do the work myself. If that does not get action in our house, I will give up. After I have bought the paint, hubby is too much of a Scotchman to allow it to go unopened.

I am going to have a perfectly good surprise for the other half of our partnership when he comes home tonight. There will be a ton of coal in the cellar. I have never before ordered coal and I do not know how much a ton of coal really is, but I would not be an economical housekeeper if I did not save that dollar that Tibbitts-Cameron Lumber Company offer.

For once I have a perfectly good excuse for taking home some of that home made candy from the Perrin Candy Shop. I know somebody who will be trying to remember whose anniversary we are celebrating with a box of candy on the living room table—that is it will be on the table if I keep really is, but I would not be an economical housekeeper if I did not save that dollar that Tibbitts-Cameron Lumber Company offer.

I have been having so much fun in my buying trip I have unintentionally forgotten about the "best buys" that I promised to select from each advertisement. The sign of the National Tea has awakened me. Nine bars of large size ivory soap sound very good to me in this store.

The first item that strikes my eye that is on sale at the store of Olaf & Suefke are dress shirts for one dollar. The man in our house always insists upon buying his own shirts so I must scratch that item off from my list. But there is nothing in the laws and regulations of our marriage contract that says that I can not purchase his work shirts. He will wonder what it is for and I suppose I will have to hand him it with a garden seed catalogue. His enthusiasm for the home garden starts about March 1st each year and lasts until after planting time.

I can see that this shopping expedition is going to take so long that I will not be home on time to get a regular dinner and I am going to stop into the Quality Cash Market for some of that home made pork sausage. You know here is where I save 77 cents. I only have to spend 23c for my purchase.

I wonder if we do owe for two years subscription to the Herald. The announcement says that a dollar reduction is given, if the subscription for 24 months is paid on dollar day. We could not get along without the home paper, but too often we forget to pay for it. That is an expenditure that is up to dad to pay and if he does not save the dollar, I will never let him talk economy to me again. He should practice what he preaches once.

Down in the lower corner of page four is an announcement of Arlington Gardens. I am going to cut out that advertisement and hand it to friend husband with that work shirt. I was talking about a few minutes ago. He always buys about twice as many packages of seeds as he opens, but he might as well start buying now when he can get a whole pocket full for only a dollar. I will tell him it is twice as much fun selecting the seeds at the store than pouring over a seed catalogue all one Sunday afternoon.

I am getting near the end of my shopping journey. It is a good thing I am putting this all down on paper, instead of trying to carry home all my purchases. We are ready for page five. I am going to skip around this time in making my selections. I will be so tired out on Dollar Day that I will not feel like going to the movies but I am going to pick up eight of those children tickets for a dollar. The adult tickets will take care of themselves. The children will be so insistent about using up their tickets, I will have a good excuse to go along. I enjoy good movies and I do not get the opportunity to see half as many as I would like.

Did you read the announcement of Winkelman's tire and battery shop. It is an offer that I know will appeal to my husband. He enjoys to tinker around his car and he is all the time bragging about keeping it in proper condition. (It is a wonder to me that he does not have it weighed each week to see if it is taking on flesh or losing avoirdupois from eating so much gasoline). I just know that $1.00 inspection offer is going to appeal to him. I can see where he will go the minute that he gets home next Saturday.

Do you like summer sausage. A lot of people do and there is one member of our family who is just crazy about it. Otto Jahrling is offering three pounds for a dollar. I have never before bought that much at a time, but I will not be getting it cheap but I will not have to worry much about the breakfast menu for the next few days.

The Sadecky store is so full of Dollar Day bargains, they must be trying to hold a dollar day of their own. Their announcement gives a suggestion of general reductions throughout all departments. I have been saying so much about "hubby" in this account that I have neglected to mention Johnny, my 11 year old son. In the old days the boys used to go barefooted. Nowadays they wear shoes, but they do not wear them long and I know I will find just the pair for my young hopeful and the cost will be only a dollar. I will not waste much time in buying them.

I have been thinking about the spring cleaning for some time, but I am going to get one spring job off my hands. The offer of Joseph Lindner, Jr., the tailor, on special prices for cleaning, can not be resisted. Instead of waiting until the Easter rush, I know of several dresses and a suit or two that are going down to the tailor this very night. I could save $2.00 by ordering a suit for the mister, but I don't. He would never forgive me. I am afraid that he would think that the last of his liberties had been taken away from him. I can hardly wait until I get to the Mors bakery for one of their delicious marshmallow rolls. They are only 20c this day. I am going to let hubby eat it so he will be feeling happy when I reveal to him how much money I borrowed at the bank so that I could complete my dollar day shopping.

It sometimes seems to me that it costs as much to keep an auto as an extra member of the family. I have bought wearing apparel to day for every member of the family except the car. I can not slight that faithful animal and I am going to take home from the Arlington Heights Motor Sales two 75c bottles auto polish. They only cost a dollar and they will give hubby two good excuses for staying out in the garage next Sunday morning instead of going to church like he should.

I do love a ten cent store. I could spend all day rubbering around the counters. You can have so much fun and yet spend so little. There are a lot of good things offered in the dollar day announcement of this store, but I know that once I am in the store, I am going to buy a lot of things that are not shown in the advertisement.

What is this? An announcement that does not mention dollar day. It reads good anyway and I feel a whole lot safer in knowing the precautions that the milk men today take to safeguard this food for the children. I have not missed a single dollar day store and I am not going to miss the Arlington Heights Dairy Plant. I am going on an inspection tour. Why not? The invitation is there isn't it?

There I am done. I have spent a lot of money, but I have shown my loyalty to my home merchants. Oh! I almost forgot to put my purchase ticket into the box at the Sieburg drug store. I have spent enough time and effort to be entitled to that whole $20 that is offered as prizes for the first four who trade at the most stores. If anyone beats my record I will shoot somebody. Oh what is the use of worrying? I have read over those dollar day announcements so thoroughly that I can tell you exactly how many periods and commas are contained therein.

Now for home and if my hubby starts scolding me I will not get him anything to eat.

Footnote — After reading over what I have written, I find I have been rather personal about home affairs. I hope the readers will pardon me, because I just know that hubby will be fighting mad. I am not going to let him read next Friday's paper.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Install it . . . and forget it

You will forget the new General Electric Refrigerator —except to bless the way it lightens household tasks. It makes two trips to market take the place of six. It keeps all foods at just the right temperature. It makes the preparation of those delightful salads and desserts a matter of minutes instead of hours. It never needs attention—not even oiling.

Come in and see it. You will notice that it is unusually quiet. That it has no pipes, belts, drains or fans to get out of order. That its shelves are unusually roomy. That it is portable. That all its moving parts are enclosed in a single hermetically sealed casing. All these advantages are the result of fifteen years of painstaking research by the General Electric Company.
